Thank you for joining with us in our CSA! I am grateful for your decision to support sustainable and natural farming practices that foster health, wholeness, and community.

In making this decision, you commit to:

- becoming a member of a community with Blackbird Farms LLC, centered on the growing, cooking, and eating of good, honest food.
- understanding the promises and perils of farming, and sharing that risk with the farmer.
- respecting farm policies and guidelines, put in place to help ensure the CSA's efficient operation.
- fostering a connection to the place where your food is grown by visiting or even volunteering on the farm during designated hours, while taking personal responsibility for you and your children during these visits.
- receiving this season's harvest with gratitude and delight.

In response, the farmer commits to:

- doing his level best to provide you with the freshest and most healthful and delicious produce he can, given the growing conditions of that particular season.
- using natural and sustainable farming practices.
- exercising careful stewardship of all the farm's resources.
- hospitably creating space in which the community together may thankfully and joyfully celebrate good, honest food.

Thank you so much for choosing me to be your farmer. I look forward to sharing a beautiful and bountiful season with you!

Gregory Dunn, on behalf of Blackbird Farms LLC
